Judge suggests end to rent strike here

BY DEAN JONES
BELLE GLADE—U.S. Circuit Judge Alcee Hastings suggested Tuesday morning, in a hearing to determine whether he should grant an injunction to stop the eviction of tenants involved in a strike at Okeechobee Center, that the rent strike should be called off.

According to David Motes, the executive director of the Belle Glade Housing Authority, who attended the hearing, Hastings ruled first that Florida Rural Legal Services Managing Attorney Don Mason had failed to present a case on which he could base an injunction against the evictions, which were filed in the state circuit court.

Then, Motes said, Hastings made a number of suggestions, including: --That Mason and Okeechobee Center Cries Help (OCHH) turn over to the Housing Authority approximately $30,000 in rent money which has been collected from tenants and deposited in the Palm Beach Lakes Bank in West Palm Beach.

Motes said Hastings meant the money should go directly into the Authority's coffers rather than into an escrow account the Authority has set up for striking tenants. --Since the Authority is about to begin a $5 million building program at Okeechobee and Osceola Centers, it would be detrimental to the tenants to continue the rent strike.

account the Authority has set up for striking tenants.

--That the Housing Authority give the tenants three days in which to decide what to do and take action before proceeding with the eviction proceedings.

Motes said Hastings said he could see no benefit in continuing the rent strike and delaying the building program.

He went on to say the Authority attorneys conferred with him after the hearing and the decision was made that the Authority should follow Hastings' advice.

He said the Authority served notice on a total of 13 tenants as part of eviction proceedings but that no action would be taken for the next three days.

Motes said Hastings told Mason he didn't believe he had followed proper procedures outlined by Farmers Home Administration in organizing the strike and setting up the escrow account.

He said Mason had requested, and he had granted, the use of the recreation center at Okeechobee Center in order to hold a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday night.

Mason was unavailable for comment.

State Department may do study in Glades

BY DEAN JONES

BELLE GLADE—A group of 30 foreign service officers from the U.S. State Department and ten host countries may come to the Glades area Mar. 20 to begin a ten-week study of how people in the area solve a variety of problems.

Two faculty members of the Agency for International Development (AID) who would act as team leaders for the project met with a number of local residents

Wednesday morning at the Holiday Inn to discuss the project and begin making contacts.

Dick Cobb and Jerry Williams said the foreign service officers, all of them technicians in middle level positions, will break up into teams of five and study the methods used for solving such problems as water control, disposal of sewage and garbage, education and other matters.

"They'll write the equivalent of a post graduate paper."

The two said the decision to come to the Glades isn't final. They said choosing a site for this type of study begins with selection of several rural counties with populations of 50,000 or more and a college.

As of now, he said, Palm Beach County and Washington County (Johnson City, Tenn. are both being considered.

Williams said Jim

Brannigan at Palm Beach Junior College was primary motivator for the consideration of Palm Beach County. The final decision is expected to be made by the end of February.

Williams said AID only considers rural counties because assistance going to foreign countries has focused so far on cities to such an extent the rural areas have lagged behind and suffered. Now, he said, the philosophy is to help the rural areas catch up.

Chiles aide hears problems

BY DEAN JONES

BELLE GLADE—U.S. Senator Lawton Chiles aide Damon Smith heard questions and complaints, when he visited the Glades area Monday morning, on subjects ranging from the aquahol project at Palm Beach Junior College-Glades and housing to Florida Rural Legal Services and the 1980 census.

Dr. Robert Allen of the Agricultural Research and Education Center told Smith the aquahol project at PBJC could have been handled cheaper and more efficiently by other agencies, such as within the state's university system.

Reid Harvey, who said he had been sent by West Area Superintendent of Education Jack Redding, discussed bilingual education and the impact being made by Cuban and Haitian refugees, as well as discussing the 1980 census. Smith said many cities throughout the state are unhappy about the census but he isn't sure what can be done about it now.

In discussion with Belle Glade Housing Authority member Fritz Stein and Director David Motes, Smith promised to see what Chiles' office can do to expedite a $5 million grant and loan from Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) and to see whether Florida Rural Legal Services Managing Attorney Don Mason is overstepping his authority by becoming involved with the rent strike at Okeechobee Center.

Stein said the Authority is almost ready to advertise for bids on the housing units planned for construction, using the $2.5 million loan and $2.5 million grant by FmHA.

He said he wanted Sen. Chiles to be sure the grant-loan isn't jeopardized by the rent strike.

He went on to say he was concerned that FRLS may be acting outside its authority by engineering the strike and he is concerned that some or all the tenants may be hurt by the strike and some of the methods employed by FRLS.

In particular, he cited the escrow account in which the rent money is being paid and the fact the Authority isn't kept current with how much is in the account and who among the tenants have paid how much.

"Another thing that's bothering me," Stein said, "is that a lot of people don't seem to know that all the Authority's bills are paid from rent receipts. No matter whether we win or lose, the cost will have to be born by the tenants."

He said the Authority has already accrued a large amount of indebtedness in legal fees and there will probably be a large rent increase in the near future to pay the cost.

Motes described some of the strikers' tactics when he said there were about 100 tenants at the center who hadn't taken part in the strike, "and hopefully more than that."

He said some of the strikers were standing outside the Authority office and would make remarks to those tenants who did go inside to pay their rent.

He said another thing he's heard recently is that some of the strike leaders have began telling those who haven't taken part that if they aren't paying their rent into the escrow account by Mar. 1, the leaders would have their homes condemned and the uncooperative tenants evicted.

Mason was unavailable for comment on Motes' charges.

Smith said he wasn't familiar with the details of the local rent strike but said he has run into complaints from around the state that FRLS may be operating outside the bounds of the agency's charter. He said he would refer the problem to Chiles' office in Washington and have someone else reply to Stein's and Motes' question.

Lakeside Country Club lease option forfeited

By Dean Jones

BELLE GLADE—City commissioners Monday night seized on the fact the deadline for the renewal of the lease of the city's country club had been forfeited to begin the process of negotiating an entirely new contract with leaseholder John Vayias.

It seemed to be the consensus of the commissioners that when the new contract is negotiated, some changes in the club's operation would be expected, over and above a hike in rent payments which might also be expected.

The original agreement was signed by Vayias, and a partner who has since left the Lakeside Country Club, and the city, with rent stipulated for each of the first two years of the contract and options with stipulated payments set for the third and fourth years, should Vayias decide to exercise the options.

Vayias and his partner paid one dollar for the first year, 1979, and $4,501 for the second year, which began Mar. 1, 1980. The second year's payments were to be made at the rate of $375 a year. This year the rent was supposed to go to $750 a month.

The option to renew the agreement was to have been exercised, according to City Attorney John Baker, and the responsibility for doing so was Vayias'.

Mayor Tom Altman said he was unhappy with the operation of the club over the past two years for several reasons, including, "the juke joint operation of the club rather than as a restaurant that just happens to have a bar."

Altman said he is also upset because although the original purpose of the club was to have been an adjunct to the golf course, it has been operated completely independent of the course.

His third state reason for being upset, he said, was that, with Vayias' track record, he wants more detail spelled out in any future agreement. He said it seemed to him the commission had been making adjustments for Vayias for almost the entire first two years of the lease.

With the commission's approval, Altman directed Acting City Manager Frank Anderson to contact Vayias and tell him he has ten days to notify the city he wants to open negotiations.

The lease was agreed to by the commission in 1979 because the commission felt at that time the city should get out of the country club business. The city had at that time been operating the club for a loss for a number of years.

The initial free year of the lease was to give Vayias time to get the club off to a profitable start.

In other business, the commissioners: --Agreed to assess a $10 fine for all checks paid to the city which bounce.

--Agreed to the basic rental agreement, which he termed a license rather than a lease, that City Attorney John Baker presented, under which various persons could park a mobile home at the city marina or other places around town.

Belle Glade contests EPA critic

By Dean Jones

BELLE GLADE — City officials and consulting engineers will fly to Atlanta Feb. 6 to answer a U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) criticism that the city has been dragging its feet in developing and following through with a wastewater treatment plan.

Mayor Tom Altman and Public Works Director Ron Sigmon both said they felt the criticism that the city hasn't been doing its part on the Glades Area 201 Plan for treating wastewater was unfair.

The criticism came from Thomas R. Runyon, environmental engineer, with the EPA office in Atlanta, in the form of a letter received here Jan. 14.

Runyon, whom Sigmon says he has never heard of or dealt with since he became involved with the 201 Plan in 1976, said his office has been awaiting the submittal of the final, revised, Facilities Plan for several months.

Runyon said the original plan was unsatisfactory in some respects and "required relatively minor revisions in order to become acceptable. You have certainly had a sufficient amount of time to rectify the problems and resubmit the plans."

He went on to say the city would have to submit the final plan before Jan. 30 (Friday) or be prepared to attend a "show cause" hearing next week with oral and written final plans.

In a letter Sigmon wrote Runyon, Sigmon said the city couldn't meet the deadline but that he, Altman and a representative of Briley, Wild and Associates would be in Runyon's office on Feb. 6 for the show cause hearing.

Sigmon pointed out that the city isn't even the lead agency in the 201 Plan; that that position is held by Palm Beach County. He said the "relatively minor changes" the EPA demanded in the original 201 Plan were considered major enough by Russell and Axon, the engineers, to ask for more pay before making them and that the county only granted those funds three weeks ago.

Sigmon said Runyon is apparently working under the false assumption that the city, which will be the lead agency in the facilities plan applying to the city once Phase I is adopted, has already begun Phase II. He told Runyon the city's engineers are now gathering information from the county and Russell and Axon in order to begin work on Phase II and Phase III.

Black Gold schedule is set

By Scott Ellis

World-renowned marathon swimmer Stella Taylor, the "Swimming Nun," may swim across Lake Okechobee this spring in conjunction with Pahokee and Belle Glade's fourth annual Black Gold Jubilee.

Black Gold Jubilee Committee Chairman Steve Weeks confirmed at his group's regular meeting Friday that the committee will ask Taylor, holder of several swimming records, to make the swim. Taylor had previously expressed interest in making the swim. Weeks said, but no final deal has been put together. There are no records of anyone ever swimming the width of Lake Okechobee.

Committee members indicated that they would like Taylor to make the swim on the last day of the celebration, which begins April 4 and ends April 12. The celebration will wind up in Pahokee at the Pahokee Marina with a fireworks display after dark.

Committee sources said Taylor would make the swim if the route is under 50 miles. Financial support from the committee is granted ($2,000); and if lodging and board is provided to her entourage for one week.

Taylor could not be reached for comment at prestime. Other tentative Black Gold activities, were scheduled too.

Saturday, April 4, is set to start up at 8 a.m. with tennis and softball tournaments, and these tournaments will be completed the next day. A golf tournament will begin and end Sunday afternoon.

No other events are planned until Friday, April 10. That day, at 7 p.m., an "Almost Anything Goes" competition is slated. A children's fishing tournament is set for 3-5 p.m.

Saturday, April 11, 13.5 mile running marathon within the Belle Glade city limits is to begin the day at 7 a.m. A $5 entry fee is required. Another, shorter marathon is also being planned. A parade at 10:30 a.m. and an award ceremony will follow.

And all during the day at McDonald Park, food booths, an arts and crafts show, baby-crawling contest and other entertainment is scheduled.

At the Belle Glade Library, a children's movie, puppet show and art show are scheduled. That night, an adult dance at the Elks Club is set for 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. and a skating party at Glades Skateland is scheduled for 7 p.m. to 1 a.m.

The Black Gold Jubilee is scheduled to wind up Sunday with a bang at the Pahokee Marina, with several events getting started at about 3 p.m.

The barbecue, police dog show, raft race, horseshoe contest, pie-eating, children's pet show, fishing tournament, and greased pole contest are all set to start at 3 p.m. But no one in the committee volunteered to say when all these various events might end.

A hay stack scramble contest is set for 5 p.m., and fireworks will go off after dark.

The finance committee estimated the 1981 Black Gold Jubilee costs at about $6,000; the bulk of the expense will be paid for via advertising revenue generated from the sale of sponsorship spaces in the official Black Gold programs, according to the committee's finance chairman, Larry Tucker. The programs are to be mailed out to Glades area residents, Tucker said.

Final celebration details will be worked out in subsequent meetings.

GED class is offered

PAHOKEE — The department of Adult and Community Education of Palm Beach County has opened a G.E.D. preparation and basic skills improvement lab at Pahokee High School. The program that is offered at no cost meets in room 102 every Monday through Friday night from 7 p.m. to 10

Fred Stevens part of arts series

By Dean Jones

BELLE GLADE — Glades area musical teacher Fred Stevens will present two programs on Feb. 12 as part of the Cultural Arts Series at Palm Beach Junior College-Glades, speaking at 1 p.m. on an evaluation of American popular music and at 8 p.m. on music from the Romantic Period.

Stevens, who taught music and directed the band at Glades Central for 14 years, and performed the same function at Glades Day School for eight years, now teaches music appreciation at the college.

He said his 1 p.m. program would consist of a discussion and presentation of the evolution of American Popular music, going over the distinguishing features of each style. He said he will use musical examples to aid in the understanding of the evolution.

"The afternoon presentation," he said, "is aimed at the younger people and I thought they'd identify more readily with pop music. I'll probably start with rock and roll and how it evolved out of jazz and other forms, leading up to modern music."

Since he anticipates his audience at the evening presentation will be a more mature one, he said he felt he could get into something like romantic music, leading into it with the earlier forms of baroque and classical and showing some of the characteristics, such as how many of the romantic composers were nationalistic.

"For instance," he said, "when you hear something by Wagner, you don't have to be told it's German. The emphasis in Romantic music is the word, "Roman," not "romance," just as classical music reflects the ancient Greeks."

He said one of the things he intends to stress in both presentations that it's easier to understand a particular type of music when a person knows more about it.

Stevens said he was born in the Glades and went through school here before graduating cum laude from the University of Florida. "Except for the time I was in college and in the Army," he said, "I've spent all my life in the Glades." He did his post graduate work at Florida Atlantic University.

He is a member of Phi Kappa Phi National Scholastic Fraternity and Kappa Kappa Psi National Music Fraternity. He is a recipient of the Star Teacher Award presented by the State of Florida Chamber of Commerce.

After teaching music for 25 years, however, he said he would like to get back into playing and composing music. He has already gotten involved in another art form, painting, over the past two years and his paintings adorn the wall of his Golden Charm jewelry shop in the Belle Glade shopping center.

Liberals

social legislation has given us many good agencies to police possible corporate abuses, and I hope Reagan's well-publicised budget cuts leave most of that control apparatus intact.

An things must change. Right now, we're conservative, but tomorrow... Who's A Conservative And Who's A Republican?

Now, lest the piece of procrastination become too heavy, I offer you a definition of liberalism from Webster's:

"...a theory in economics emphasizing freedom from restraint and usually based upon free competition, the self-regulating market and the gold standard."

Now that doesn't sound too liberal to me. At least not in the perspective of how we view liberals and who we determine are liberals. In fact, I think Ronald Reagan is a liberal by Webster's definition.

But, according to Webster, he is also a conservative:

"...a political philosophy based on tradition and social stability, stressing established institutions and preferring gradual development to abrupt change... a disposition...to preserve what is established."

Well, it looks like Reagan is everything to everybody. But then, so was Jimmy Carter, Gerald Ford, Lyndon Johnson, Walt Disney, etc.

How I See It

by Alma Henry

Who ever said it doesn't pay to tell a little white lie. It seems the office manager at our office told everyone in the community where she lives she was going to move last week. The community, excited over the possibility they won't have to face her jogging in the afternoons anymore, gave her farewell party complete with all the trimmings.

As it turned out she's not moving, she don't know when she going to move and insists on telling us at the office any weekend now she expects to be moved into her new haven.

Really I have been hearing that story for the past two months, I even went with her to pick out the new furniture for the new haven sometime back in November. I have even picked out over the past two months what to buy for the new house as a house warming present. However each week I'm most luckier than the village people, I'm told late Friday afternoons she will not be moving and I won't have to count the pennies to buy the set of blue towels with the funny bird on them for her bathroom.

She's a dear friend and probably the most reliable friend I have, but if she thinks I'm going to do like the village people and give her a party before she moves, I get news for her.

I'm one of those Johnny come lately too, I will buy her a house warming gift long after the grass will begin to need mowing twice a week instead of once or none at all.

Speaking of white lie, I ran into another friend Tuesday while covering a meeting at the Pahokee City Hall, asked what day it was and I said my birthday and end up having one of the best lunches that I have had in long time.

I even told the lie my best friend was celebrating a birthday Tuesday also, and she too end up having lunch on the town.

So much for the white lies this week. I wonder what color lie I can use next week.

Where have all the liberals gone?

It is the end, the ignoble end, the experts say, of the "Liberal" era of American politics. Gone are such leftist stalwarts like George McGovern, Frank Church, Birch Bayh, Jake Javits, etc.

But to those who say that the liberal era has ended, I say another will come along again, someday. Anyone, whether their politics be left or right, Republican or Democrat, ought to be able to discern that. Heck, when the Republican Party was started in 1856, it was a liberal group!

Since the nation was founded, we have had liberal and conservative, expansionist and isolationist, and peaceful and wartime years. After the Civil War, the country experienced a spate of Republican reforms which are considered quite radical and liberal in those days. Now, with the election of Ronald Reagan, the Republicans are viewed as generally more conservative; more keepers of the status quo than reformers. But the Republicans Party of Lincoln was certainly anything but conservative.

Utilities lack compassion

As the new publisher of Hammill Newspapers in the Glades, it was my intention to maintain a low profile and ease slowly into the communities my newspapers serve. I felt that way until last Wednesday evening when, after a particularly long day at the office, I arrived home after dark to find that Florida Power & Light had cut off the power to my home. Why? I had only lived in the house for 27 days and had received no power bills or notices that my power was in jeopardy of being turned off unless I paid up.

This, by the way, is the second time in my 13 years in Florida that my power was disconnected. The first was in St. Petersburg, my first year in Florida. There, at least, the power company sent a notice to the effect that my bill was past due, but if my check was in the mail, disregard the notice. My check was in the mail so I disregarded the notice and bingo, no lights. It seems the power company had lost my check. I mysteriously turned up in the form of a credit on my bill two months later, but I never even received so much as an apology from them.

The second time, as mentioned above, was last Wednesday evening. The events leading up to my power interruption as it is called are as follows: Since I am alone, live in LaBelle and out of necessity am required to work for a living, one of my associate's wives volunteered to take care of the little chores that are required when one moves into a new home, i.e. arranging for a phone, lights, water, garbage pickup, "etc." She graciously performed all of these chores and dutifully presented herself at the bank to put up the deposit that Florida Power & Light requires. She was told that because she had no bill (how could she, the power had just been turned on) that they could not accept the deposit and that Florida Power & Light would include the amount of the deposit on my first bill. No bill was forthcoming and neither my associate's wife nor I had any further contact with the power company until Wednesday evening when my lights ceased to function.

A very dear friend of mine who lives in another part of the state has suddenly fallen on hard times and has been slow fulfilling his obligation over the past several months. The previous five years he had been Johnny-on-the-spot paying his bills. The first people that called were the friendly souls from the power company to inform him that he had been slow to pay the last couple of months (he already knew this) and because of that they would need an additional $250 deposit within 10 days or they would be forced to "interrupt his service." Now I lay no special claim to intelligence but even I realize that, if my friend has $250 lying around he would have no need to defer payment of his power bill. After much pleading and begging, his power company finally agreed to consider his previous 5 year payment record and to extend the 10 days to 90 days. So with luck he will be able to save the money, put up the deposit and avoid an interruption of his service.

In my case the power interruption was a minor inconvenience, a phone call and two hours of darkness were the extent of my suffering. With two hours to think (what else can you do without lights,) it became crystal clear to me how totally dependent and how totally at the mercy of the utility companies we are. I wonder about families who, in their excitement to leave on vacation, fail to pay their power bill and return two weeks later happy and refreshed only to find their lights turned off and a side of beef in the freezer spoiled. I wonder about families, like my friend, who fall on hard times and find themselves without power in 30 degree weather. Even if the utility is at fault the most you can hope for is an apology. I seriously doubt that they would replace perishables or pay hospital bills for cases of pneumonia.

After writing this editorial I will be very careful to pay my light bill the day it arrives. I don't want to give them an excuse to interrupt my service, but while I'll pay the bill and accept their service, be assured that if I could find any alternate source of power, I would jump at it. A windmill driven by a gasoline powered generator had occurred to me but the neighbors would probably register a complaint about the noise.

In all seriousness it is my opinion that utility companies who have the only game in town, could and should show some compassion for the people who use their services. Utility companies spend millions of dollars worth of advertising telling us how wonderful they are. The money in my opinion could be better spent by working with and extending credit to those families who suddenly find themselves in financial difficulties. If they did this, they would have no need to tell us how great they are, they would be showing us.

Jim Zimmer

Misunderstood

Prisons, Glades Correctional Institution Superintendent R.V. Turner told Rotarians the other day, are among the most misunderstood businesses today and prison discipline is the most misunderstood facet of prisons.

Oddly enough, most of us just as soon continue misunderstanding as long as we can stay far enough away to do so.

Theories, according to a newspaper's newsletter I read recently, may come and go and modes of management may vary, so isn't it reassuring to know there are a few simple laws that never change? Here they are:

1. Nothing is as easy as it appears to be. Everything takes longer than expected, and if anything can go wrong it will, and at the worst possible time.

2. I think that's an expanded version of Murphy's Law, modified and tacked onto the Jones expostulate.

3. Nothing is impossible for the person who doesn't have to do it. Which is probably why the boss doesn't like to hear the word "Impossible."

4. All employees have the right answers to all problems. These answers evaporate when people are promoted to a position of responsibility. That may be the reason nothing right ever gets done around here. By the time we're promoted, we're so old, we've forgotten what the problems are, much less the answers.

5. Once a job has been fouled up, any attempt to correct the situation only makes it worse. I'm not sure but I think that's why the answer to the saying, "To err is human but to really foul things up takes a computer," is to fire the computer and hire an idiot who can walk around.

6. It is always simple to make things difficult. I also wonder if that's why bosses have done so well in their courses on management.

7. The specialist learns more and more about less and less, and ends up knowing everything about nothing.

8. The generalist learns less and less about more and more, and ends up knowing nothing about everything.

9. Looks from here as though the technician is the specialist, and the boss is the generalist. Neither one of all that attractive but at least the technician knows something.

10. Whatever happens, there is always someone who knew it would... Yeah and they usually don't mind saying so either.

I've had more than a few people hooting about the condescension we newsmen got from various people down through the years, as reported by H.L. Mencken. Thought those were funny, did you, Ducks?

Well, he had a few choice words about Americans too, Sweetums. Check these out and see how you like the fit of the shoe we all have to wear.

"They are a race of convicts, and ought to be thankful for anything we allow them short of hanging." Samuel Johnson.

"See what it is to have a nation to take its place among civilized states before it has either gentlemen or scholars. They have in the course of twenty years acquired a distinct national character for low, lying knavery." Robert Southey

"I am willing to love all mankind, except for an American." Samuel Johnson

"The American is horn-handed, and pig-headed, but persevering, unscrupulous, carnivorous, with an incredible genius for lying." Anonymous; In the Foreign Quarterly.

This one, I think, may have been sour grapes. "I cannot conclude without mentioning how sensibly I feel the dismemberment of America from this empire, and that I should be miserable indeed if I did not feel that no blame on that account can be laid at my door, and I did not also know that knavery seems to be so much the striking feature of its inhabitants that it must not in the end be an evil that they will become aliens to this kingdom." George III, King of England in a letter to the Earl of Shelburne on Nov. 10, 1782

"In the four quarters of the globe, who reads an American book? or goes to an American play? or looks at an American picture or statue? What does the world yet owe to American physicians or surgeons? What new substances have their chemists discovered? or what old ones have they analyzed? What new constellations have been discovered by the telescopes of Americans? What have they done in mathematics? Who drinks out of American glasses? or eats from American plates? or wears American coats or gowns? or sleeps in American blankets? Finally, under which of the old tyrannical governments of Europe is every sixth man a slave, whom his fellow-creatures may buy, and sell, and torture?" Sydney Smith Jan. 1820

What's the matter, snookums? Don't like all that criticism? Well, I wasn't wild about it either but let me lay one final quote on you.

I am a one hundred per cent American! I am, God Damn, I am! W.W. Woolcott

Amen, W.W., amen!

Scott Ellis

Democratic Party became more a reform party; the party more open to liberal viewpoints. Woodrow Wilson, with his visionary League of Nations idea, helped begin this tradition. Franklin Roosevelt, with his New Deal, began the current phase of social legislation. And in each period of history, the reforms of the above politicians, and many others, were needed and valid for their times.

But what about now. Is it the end of liberalism? Perhaps for the next few years, it is. The country wants a change. It's obvious that the federal government has gotten too big to control. Perhaps a dose of conservatism is what we need to slow big government down. There is one thing we need to remember though. Big government is not the only problem we have. Oil companies, since the 1973 embargo, have been reporting huge profits. We must take care that when we trim big government, we don't give oil companies and Big Business a carte blanche to do whatever they please in their rush for profit. Recent

Belle Glade cool toward housing

by DEAN JONES

BELLE GLADE—The city commission displayed a cool attitude Monday night toward an agreement with the Palm Beach County Housing Authority to provide an estimated 100 units of subsidized rental housing in the Belle Glade area.

City Community Development Director Remar Harvin said he was told by PBCHA Director Barry Seeman that he would want the agreement before providing rental housing under Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) Section 8 because the Belle Glade Housing Authority (BGHA) is already providing housing within the area.

Harvin said the program would deal with individuals now paying more than 25 per cent of their income for rent.

"No one would know it's public housing," Harvin said. He went on to explain that the housing subsidies would be set up by the PBCHA for individual landlords scattered throughout the city instead of in certain target areas.

Another difference would be that the landlords would be private businessmen who would be guaranteed they would be paid at least 80 per cent of the fair market value, even if the tenant should lose his or her job, become ill or for some other reason lose his ability to pay rent.

"I personally," Mayor Tom Altman said, when Harvin completed his presentation, "would feel more comfortable with the local housing authority being the managing agency rather than the Palm Beach County Housing Authority. I would rather see Community Development be the managing agency rather than the Palm Beach Housing Authority. I would rather see the City Building and Planning Department be the managing agency than the Palm Beach County Housing Authority."

"I would rather," he finished, "see about anyone become the lead agency than the Palm Beach County Housing Authority."

When Altman asked Harvin whether the city or the BGHA could get the Section 8 units without going through the PBCHA, Harvin said the units would be coming through the county and would have to come through the PBCHA, and even then would have to be approved by HUD.

Harvin also said the type of units being sought, individual units, would be scattered throughout town and he wasn't sure the BGHA was set up to handle that type of program or would have the expertise to do so.

Altman said that before he would be willing to endorse the program, and the agreement, he wanted Harvin to get input from City Attorney John Baker on the interlocal agreement, making sure there would be some provision for the city to back out of the program at some point in the future if that seems desirable, and get input from the BGHA and how the city might set up a similar program on its own.

THREE ACNE MYTHS

Many effective nonprescription acne medications are available through pharmacies. Consequently, pharmacists are called upon for information about the cause and cure of acne pimples and blackheads. According to Dr. Lawrence Parish, a dermatologist at the University of Pennsylvania, there are three commonly held beliefs about acne. Each of these has no scientific basis...as far as is known, they are myths:

1. DIET: Although chocolate, greasy foods, and junk food is not the hallmark of a healthy diet, there appears to be no relationship between these and the occurrence of acne.
2. CLEANLINESS: Keeping the skin reasonably clean will remove dead skin, open up clogged pores, and possibly kill some germs. The cleaning of skin will not, however, prevent acne.
3. SEXUAL ACTIVITY: Sexual activity will not clear or cure acne...another acne myth. Acne is a complex problem resulting from the production of certain hormones in people who have acne "in the family". Medicines are available to lessen the effects of this skin condition.

Sick Central gals still win Glades Day improves

BELLE GLADE—Glades Central girls basketball coach Michael Logsdon was only able to dress out seven members of his flustered team Thursday and Monday, wound up with no reserves for the final period Thursday and still managed to stick Cardinal Newman and Suncoast with lopsided scores.

One of the seven players who dressed out against Newman Thursday got sick at the half and another turned her ankle at the beginning of the fourth period but the Lady Raiders hung on for a 67-33 win. Logsdon dressed out three junior varsity players for Monday's game, with Suncoast to ensure he wouldn't run out of players again but he still had to shuffle one player between positions on the team's way to an astounding 92-28 win without the help of stars Joye Burroughs and Dianne Bussie or backup varsity player Davena Johnson. "We've been hit pretty hard by the flu bug," Logsdon said. "I was real surprised for the results of the Suncoast game, especially without one of our good rebounders. I couldn't believe the way the team put it together. I thought it was going to be a whole lot sloppier than it was." He said he had to switch Annette Miller back and forth from her normal forward position to guard and back to take up slack and give Cassandra Strachen, giving her a chance to rest. "I was real pleased with Jessica Hansford too," he said. "She went in and took over the scoring, making 21 points, 12 rebounds, two assists and four steals. She was followed by four more players who scored in double digits. They were Mary West with 18 points, 11 rebounds, one assist and six steals; Karen Gooden with 14 points, 10 rebounds, one assist and four steals; Gloria Stewart, who came off the bench to score 14 points, 13 rebounds, one assist and three steals, and Denise Bussie with 12 points, ten assists and seven steals."

Annette Miller scored seven points, three rebounds, five assists and one steal, followed by Cassandra Strachen with two points, one rebound, two assists and two steals and Terry Bailey with two points and one rebound. Logsdon said he wasn't aware of it until the half but Cassandra Strachen apparently started the Cardinal Newman game Thursday while she was sick because he had to take her out at the half. Three minutes into the fourth period, Jessica Hansford turned her ankle and immediately after the game, Davena Johnson got sick.

"I looked down the bench during the fourth quarter," he said, "and it was awfully bare. If one of the players on the floor had fouled out, we would've been playing with four players."

Mary West led the scoring with 20 points, 18 rebounds, one assist and seven steals. She was followed by Dianne Bussie with 17 points, ten rebounds, two assists and two steals; Denise Bussie with 13 points, 12 assists, seven steals and two rebounds and Karen Gooden with four points, two rebounds, one assist and one steal.

The girls team next play Thursday night at Jupiter, then go to Fort Pierce, Westwood Saturday.

Both the Glades Day cage girls and boys continued their improvement this past week as the Gator guys won two out of three and the girls beat their sole foe.

The boys won 68-58 in a home match Friday versus John Carroll, and also won at Christian Day Saturday night, 59-47. Both matches were considered almost grudge games by Glades Day Coach Dick Schmidt, since both Carroll and Christian had defeated the Gators earlier in the season.

"We played good ball against some very good teams and won," Schmidt said. "We did super, the best we've played all year. But against Kings, well, we just got annihilated."

At Kings Academy Tuesday night, Glades Day got stomped on, 70-45, one of Coach Schmidt's worst defeats this year. But Kings is 20-0 on the year, and one of the regions big basketball powers, he said, making the loss a little easier to stomach.

Three Gators tied for the lead in points vs. Carroll - Dan Ross, Richard Schiele and Tom Swager each had 14 apiece. Tony Luzzetta led Carroll with 22.

Against Christian, Schiele led in scoring with 18 and Swager was next with 17. Jason Shelton netted 13.

Scorers for Christian Day were Alex Morales, with 12; Luis Garcia, 12; Jesus Armas with 10; William Craig, 8; Scott Hudson, 4; and Alex Hermdia, 1.

At Kings, Schiele and Swager each 12; Scott Meredith and Greg Chancy had 6 each; Ross, 4; Shelton, 3; Oscar Toledo, 2. Hamilton Scott led Kings with 14 tallies.

Glades Day now has a 9-5 record and will travel to Indian River Academy Friday and host St. Edwards Saturday. Tuesday, the Gators host Moore Haven in a rematch.

The girls won their only game played this week, Tuesday night at Kings Academy, 37-24. This brings their record to 4-5 this season, and Coach Byron Walker is obviously pleased at their improvement.

We've got a two game winning streak going now," Walker enthused. "We didn't make any big mistakes, and our ball-handling and rebounding was excellent."

"We were able to run against Kings, since we're quicker. We didn't give away a thing either."

Angie Adams led the Gator girls in scoring with 14. Next were Debbie Hall and Kelly Teets with 8; Tammy Scruggs, 3; and Jamie Wills, 2.

The toughest part of the girls schedule is next, Thursday the girls host Jupiter Christian in a rematch and Friday they travel with the boys to face Indian River. Tuesday, the girls face District champ Moore Haven in a rematch at home. But with the continuing improvement of his squad, Walker thinks his team should be able to keep winning.

"We never go into a game thinking we're going to lose," Walker said.

The Gator junior varsity also kept winning this past week, downing Carroll 68-44 and Christian 61-45 to up their record to 6-1.

Leading scorers against Carroll were Jorge Rodriguez with 22; Raul Garcia, 16; Jose Perez, 10; and Mike Schlechter, 7.

Against Christian Day, scorers were Garcia, 18; Perez and Rodriguez with 11 each. Frank Thompson led in rebounds with 11 and Garcia had the most steals, 7.

JUNIOR SCOTT MEREDITH pushes a foe out of the way.

Sugar wins in soft ball

BELLE GLADE—Glades Sugar battled the cold winds and five teams but kept their bats hot the whole season to win first place in the Belle Glade Men's Winter Softball League.

First year player-coach Dwaine Doney led his team to its first league Championship.

Mace Sod, coached by Pope McMullen, took home the second place trophy. All six teams will play in the League Tournament beginning Tuesday, Feb. 3, at Airport Park. Admission is free.

The final standings were: 1) Glades Sugar, 2) Mace Sod, 3) All Stars, 4) Bonavia, 5) C.U.M.C. and 6) Skate World.

Wigley to play in Glades

All-American Beau Wigley of Belle Glade will be in the spotlight Friday when the Palm Beach Junior College women's tennis team opens its season against Flagler College at 2 p.m. on the PBJC courts.

Miss Wigley was a quarterfinalist in the national junior college championships last season and a key factor in the Lady Racers capturing the national title.

She and Gabby Irazabal of Venezuela are the only returnees from the championship squad, but coach Julio Rive has signed Trinidad's Beverly Corbie and Ninka Pannovic of Yugoslavia, and he predicts the Lady Racers will be as strong individually as last season.

GLADES ART LEAGUE members Dorothy Warren (left) and Sarah Phillips with some beautiful paintings at the Bank of Pahokee's special art gallery. The gallery began Tuesday and features artwork from several students of Belle Glade artist Ann Tyler. The display will remain at the bank's Belle Glade branch until Feb. 13, when an 11 a.m. coffee is planned. The display is part of the Belle Glade Heart Fund drive and Culture Month in the Glades. Since its Belle Glade opening more than two years ago, the bank has had the display once a year.

Keeping The Faith by Rev. Joe Ed McGahey

"My son, do not regard lightly the discipline of the Lord, nor faint when you are reproved by Him. For those whom the Lord loves He disciplines, and He scourges every Son whom He receives." Hebrews 12:6

The writer of Hebrews was reaching back to the Old Testament (Proverbs 3:11 & 12) to confirm and remind us of one of God's truths. It is one of the many ways that because of His love that He deals with us.

He goes on to remind us that a loving father corrects and punishes his children because he loves them. Likewise, it is because God loves us that He disciplines (or chastens us-K.J.V.) as we get out of line.

Let us look at the way a loving parent does this. The first act of discipline may be a gentle word, but if that is not heard or heeded, then a harsh word will be spoken. If that is not acted upon, then other means have to be resorted to, each one becoming a bit more severe.

God deals with man in the same way. There are many, many examples of this in the Word of God. In the Old Testament God would often bring a very harsh word through a prophet. If that was responded to, as once in awhile it was at least a short period of time - well and good. But most often it was not listened to until God became more severe. Finally, as you remember after several generations of only half hearted response to the Word of God - God allowed the nation of Judah (Southern Kingdom) to be carried off to Babylon for 70 years.

But God still sent prophets to speak to the people. They reminded the people of why they were in captivity, but also of His promise to restore them. They, as before, preached repentance. For repentance is always part of the message of God's prophets.

God still deals with people in the same way. For several years now, God has been giving a more and more severe word to the United States. At the same time we have become more and more tolerant of sin. Immorality that only twenty to thirty years ago was recognized as being horrible and disgraceful has come to be accepted as common place. Twenty years ago a doctor who performed abortions was thrown out of the profession and sent to jail for murder. Today it is accepted and thought of very lightly. Space does not permit even the mention of so many blatant sins that twenty to thirty years ago were recognized for what they were.

God has warned us again and again about the direction we are going in, but as a nation we have not listened. Now God has begun to judge us. I believe he is judging us through our weather. But you say, this weather is not unusual. Let me tell you what is unusual. In the last year every area of this nation where food is produced in abundance has suffered from severe weather and we are still suffering. All across the midwest there was extremely hot weather last summer burning up the crops in the fields - this was the west coast to the east coast. At present there is a critical shortage of water because of the lack of rain and snowfall. We could go on and on, but you have read the papers and are aware of what has and is happening.

There are other ways this judgment is coming upon us. As a nation, we need to repent. But repentance begins with individuals.

Arbor Day celebrated

BELLE GLADE-Arbor Day was observed at the Gladeview Elementary School Jan. 22, with a special program and tree planting ceremony, according to Principal Walter S. Stephens.

More than 700 students attended the program, which included selected readings and singings of "The Tree Planting Song," "Smoky the Bear," "Ten Little Pine Trees" and the poem "Trees." While a portion of the program was given to the history of Arbor Day, the importance of trees to all people was stressed.

Miss Karen Kay, a fourth grade teacher at Gladeview served as chairperson for this observance.

Trip to Israel is Mar. 9-20

BELLE GLADE-The Rev. Joe Ed McGahey, pastor of Community United Methodist Church in Belle Glade, will lead another trip to Israel Mar. 9-20, with a four day optional extension in Australia on the return.

This will be Rev. McGahey's eighth trip to Israel and the sixth one that he has directed, he said.

He said he has traveled and studied extensively in Israel and the tours he and his wife, Doty, lead are unique in that he does a great deal of teaching at various sites while there.

He said many people have gone with them several times because the trips have been "so very meaningful to them."

Rev. McGahey said the price of this trip is $1,535 from Florida, including everything. "Those desiring to make the extension," he said, "will have to pay an additional $495. This price includes only two meals a day but does include all other expenses. If you want to go, contact me quickly as time is very short. I'll be glad to answer any questions you may have."

IN THE CHURCH OF YOUR CHOICE

Many Winters

There's an old saying that "blue eyes belong to leaders and brown eyes to dreamers..." We can't tell the color of this child's eyes from her picture, but they look a great deal like the eyes of rich wisdom.

Wisdom comes to most of us only after many years of struggle and growth. And even when we feel a bit wiser, we soon realize that there is always much more to learn - that, in truth, learning is a life-long process.

But whatever age and degree of wisdom we may attain, our need for a changeless source of inspiration remains the same. Within your place of worship you will find a power of truth founded on eternal love and maintained by divine wisdom. On such, character is built and wisdom enhanced.

Draw new courage and hope from the wellspring of knowledge that makes men free. Worship this week!

Lad and Dad fellowship

BELLE GLADE—The weekend of Jan. 24 and 25 eight Webelos Scouts and their fathers headed for the east coast to attend the Gulfstream Council's Annual Webelos Dad and Fellowship at Camp Tanah-Kesta Scout Reservation in Truista.

The purpose of this weekend outing was to help the scouts prepare for the advancement from Webelos Scouts to Boy Scouts.

The outing also was a chance for the Scouts and their dads to fellowship in a natural setting.

Members of Club Pack 622 of Belle Glade, Michael and Dan Crist, Glen and P.D. Watts, Kevin and Keith Whitlock, Keith Cumby, Brian and George Burch, David and Broman Cumpston, Warren Simpson, Den chief Darren Schoenfeld and Leader Bill Schoenfeld attend this event.

The Scouts and their fathers worked on achievements in the areas of art, geology, science, nature, and athletics. The lads and dads also watched a campfire put on by the Junior staff.

The Scouts achievements during this outing will count as points towards earning them the Arrow of Light, Cub Scoutings highest award.

CREDIT PROBLEMS?

If your loan application to purchase a new or used car was turned down by the bank or other lending institution, the Stewart's may have good news for you.
For a limited time, we have over $290 million dollars available for auto loans.
Credit requirements are more liberal than what you've probably experienced. Terms are longer, and no down payment is necessary. Interest is well below prime lending rates charged by most banks.

Call now and drive home
today in a new Pontiac, Toyota, Mazda, Fiat, or Peugeot. Call for an appointment or come in. Ask for Mr.
Foster, Special Finance Manager.
